

Spring Azure Butterfly

(Celastrina argiolus)

Identification tip: Pale blue, with faint chevron marks on outer edges of the wings like this: <

Flight period: April through June and again in August.

Look for this butterfly near streams, and on the edges of wooded areas. It uses elderberry, madrona, and ocean spray as larval host plants.

This species produces two generations per year!

Faint chevron marks on outer wing edge

