Good Evening-

I am writing to encourage you to keep the vacation rental cap in place.

The islands ecosystems are delicate and increasing the number of visitors is clearly having a negative impact on both wildlife and flora. On our end of the island visitors are parking willy nilly and trampling over all of the delicate flora. I realize that some may be day visitors, but at least if the rentals are contained that may help reduce the overall number.

Housing availability, as you probably already know, is already an an issue for many people working on the island. And having constant renters can negatively impact neighborhood stability.

I urge you to keep the vacation cap in place and not increase access to rental permits.
